

Know thyself, and know for thyself

The idea which I wish to express within this document is thus; that the present situation, concerning the current state of civilization, politics, and the ever increasing exposure regarding NHI and UAP can all be adequately explained through the world's history, and by the records of the past. The 'wave-length' if you will, of human history consists of two major types of periods, in its broadest strokes, our history rotates between one of either two kinds of periods: either it is a time of human civilization rebuilding from the basics of society accompanied by a high level of suspicion/superstition/mythology and belief in NHI creatures and beings, and the fear and safeguards pertaining to their re-entrance into society; or it a time of an almost unnatural rate of expansion and advancement. With an increase in secularism and a reduction in beliefs surrounding supernatural entities. Where humanity's written record tends to begin and end are the catastrophic periods of collapse and resets. The wicked will punish the wicked, and when society allows itself to be led into a state of carnal security, those more wicked than man punish man, and are 'allowed' back into society.

Out of lust of their power and a desire to do wickedness freely and without consequence, the cabal is re-formed on earth through the initiation of NHI, with those who take the side of these demons, covenanting with them in their secret combination, and in return implement their wicked designs and execute their bidding to enact their awful influence over the world of men, through unnatural technological power.

The current rise and exposure in the 'ET meta' is ultimately a manifestation of a secret combination bent on corrupting our world and society. We are being conditioned to accept the overt re-introduction of The Watchers (fallen angels, devils, malevolent beings) to rule over the planet, under the guise of 'advanced extraterrestrial beings' with superior knowledge and technology, unaffiliated with the history of infiltrators fallen from a higher dimension which have ultimately led to the destruction and utter collapse of past human civilizations. It's part of a psychological operation to condition the public's perception on these NHI as being for the good of humanity, and not their ancient enemy. The disguise as "aliens" unaffiliated with the repetitive infiltration and corruption of the natural progression of the human race. This is complicated by the fact that there are also advanced branches of the human race which are currently separated from our civilization, but will ultimately return and may be already making attempts at contact which are potentially being sabotaged.

The essential nature [or essence] of that which is about to happen, has all already occurred before in our past. That the present situation may be adequately understood through the proper study of our history and the teachings of the past is the fundamental argument I present to you.

Understanding Our Situation

To be able to fully understand the truth of our awful situation and the designs upon the foundation of human nature's natural intelligent relationship with the medium through which it may be realized, it is rudimentary for each of us that our essential nature be understood.

To understand and overcome the difficulty in this it is necessary to understand or at least be willing to accept the possibility that despite being surrounded by advanced technological machines that we truly do live in a dark age. The true nature of a dark age is in general best understood as when humans are separated from a knowledge of themselves and their relation to the universe at large, so what is keeping us from this knowledge of ourselves?

The modern philosophical tradition has failed us. Separating the necessary language of moral philosophy, ethics, and metaphysics from the proper and original logical matrix which renders them coherent and meaningful.

After Virtue: A Study in Moral Theory is a book on moral philosophy by the philosopher Alasdair MacIntyre. MacIntyre provides a bleak view of the state of modern moral discourse, regarding it as failing to be rational, and failing to admit to being irrational. He claims that older forms of moral discourse were in better shape, particularly singling out Aristotle's moral philosophy as an exemplar. After Virtue is among the most important texts in the recent revival of virtue ethics.

"MacIntyre holds that After Virtue makes seven central claims. It begins with an allegory suggestive of the premise of the science-fiction novel A Canticle for Leibowitz: a world where all sciences have been dismantled quickly and almost entirely. MacIntyre asks what the sciences would look like if they were re-assembled from the remnants of scientific knowledge that survived the catastrophe.

He claims that the new sciences, though superficially similar to the old, would in fact be devoid of real scientific content, because the key suppositions and attitudes would not be present. "The hypothesis which I wish to advance", he continues, "is that in the actual world which we inhabit the language of morality is in the same state of grave disorder as the language of natural science in the imaginary world which I described." Specifically, MacIntyre applies this hypothesis to advance the notion that the moral structures that emerged from the Enlightenment were philosophically doomed from the start because they were formed using the aforementioned incoherent language of morality. MacIntyre claims that this failure encompasses the work of many significant Enlightenment and post-Enlightenment moral philosophers, including Søren Kierkegaard, Karl Marx, Immanuel Kant, and David Hume. These philosophers "fail because of certain shared characteristics deriving from their highly specific historical background. "That background is the Enlightenment's abandonment of Aristotelianism, and in particular the Aristotelian concept of teleology.

Ancient and medieval ethics, argues MacIntyre, relied wholly on the teleological idea that human life had a proper end or character, and that human beings could not reach this natural end without preparation. Renaissance science rejected Aristotle's teleological physics as an incorrect and unnecessary account, which led Renaissance philosophy to make a similar rejection in the realm of ethics. But shorn of teleology, ethics as a body of knowledge was expurgated of its central content, and only remained as, essentially, a vocabulary list with few definitions and no context. With such an incomplete framework on which to base their moral understanding, the philosophers of the Enlightenment and their successors were doomed from the beginning. " https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/After_Virtue

You cannot trust what the modern world tells you but must learn to "do knowing" for yourself. We have been led into a state of complacency and ignorance, for real and sinister reasons. If you wait to know all things only once they have impinged upon your senses, you are at the mercy of the manipulatable world and through the influences which dominate the corruptible temporal medium. You must know by principally animating your mind and working to understand the truth of the relations of motions (aether) to bodies (matter.)

Before we go into detail concerning the Watchers, their connection to UAPs, NHI and secret combinations, it is imperative to understand the level things are really happening on, from, and how they pertain to and affect the very essence of our existence.

Metaphysics and the nature of the primary dimension of substance

"For always something actual is produced from something potential, by something actual, as a man by a man, a musician by a musician. Always there is a first mover and the mover actually exists. We said in our discussion of substance that everything that is produced is produced from something and by something of the same form as itself...

...The actual is also prior in substance, first, because things that are later in coming to be are really prior in form and substance, as, for example, man is prior to boy and human being to seed, since the one already has its form and the other has not. And everything that comes into being moves toward a principle, which is its end; for that for the sake of which it exists is its principle, and it's coming into being is for its end. And actuality is its end, and it was to become actual that it acquired potentiality." -Aristotle, Metaphysics

The full meaning of the word 'being' cannot be dialectically conveyed without having experienced it for yourself. So what is Metaphysics? Metaphysics is the science [or universal principles] pertaining to 'being' as a whole. Metaphysics is probably the most commonly misunderstood science in our modern era. Not surprising given our current philosophical tradition. But the relevance and insight it brings into our lives simply cannot be overstated.

So what is a science? Traditional sciences are the study, knowledge, and or practice based upon or extrapolated from the universal truths pertaining to certain aspects of 'being.'

Biology is the science of 'being' qua functions of living things

Physics is the science of 'being' qua natural forces and mechanics

Psychology is the science of 'being' qua mental states

Astronomy is the science of 'being' qua the motions of heavenly bodies, etc.

All sciences presuppose being, and thus are unable to 'prove it.'

"Because the first principles proper to a science "are primary among all [the truths contained within it]," they cannot be demonstrated within that science. They can however, be defended by dialectic." - Substantial Knowledge, C.D.C Reeve - 2.2 Dialectic and First Principles

Metaphysics is the study of the first principles of all things, and of 'being as a whole' or 'being qua being.' This is because to understand the nature and relationship of the first principles is the same as understanding 'being,' and our own essential nature [essential natural motion] itself. For 'to be always going,' is the natural motion of intelligences [entities of the aether] realized in that which may potentially receive it, the intelligent medium of expression [temporal matter].

The nature of a thing is its 'natural motion.'

Time is simply the numerical measurement of [relative] motion

Man's essential nature is 'Happiness' or motion of the soul [the whole being] in accordance with true reason. Or the good. Or that which is ultimately conducive to its essential nature.

*“Perhaps, however, it seems commonplace to say that happiness is the supreme good; what is wanted is to define its nature a little more clearly. The best way of arriving at such a definition will probably be to ascertain the function of man. For, as with a flute player, a sculptor, or any artist, or in fact anybody who has a special function or activity, his goodness and excellence seem to lie in his function, so it would seem to be with man, if indeed he has a special function. Can it be said that, while a carpenter and a cobbler have special functions and activities, man, un-like them, is naturally functionless? Or, as the eye, the hand, the foot, and similarly each part of the body has a special function, so may man be regarded as having a special function apart from all these? What, then, can this function be? It is not life; for life is apparently something that man shares with plants; and we are looking for something peculiar to him. We must exclude therefore the life of nutrition and growth. There is next what may be called the life of sensation. But this too, apparently, is shared by man with horses, cattle, and all other animals. There remains what I may call the active life of the rational part of man's being. Now this rational part is twofold; one part is rational in the sense of being obedient to reason, and the other in the sense of possessing and exercising reason and intelligence. The active life too may be conceived of in two ways, either as a state of character, or as an activity; but we mean by it the life of activity, as this seems to be the truer form of the conception. The function of man then is activity of soul in accordance with reason, or not apart from it.” -Aristotle, Nicomachean Ethics; Book 1, Chapter 6

The essential nature realized in the intelligent medium of expression is the 'end' or purpose of an intelligent being.

'Good' means that which is conducive to the essential nature of a thing.

"Bad' is that which is antagonistic to the essential nature or ' natural motion' of a thing.

The 'moral good' is simply the good which lies within our essential nature's power to achieve. Namely the action or motion of our whole being in accordance with true reason. Metaphysical truths are truths about being as a whole. Simple examples would be those such as be honest, be healthy, be wise, be prudent etc. Virtue Ethics as enumerated by Aristotle in the Nicomachean Ethics.

Imagine a pie chart with a slice for each science, Metaphysics is in essence, the whole pie; or perhaps more accurately stated as being the truths innate and within the relation of all the particular slices [sciences], as they do not all have to describe the principles of the other and the study of its aspect of being, but ultimately they also cannot contradict one another. This relation which is true to all sciences is ultimately the domain of Metaphysics.

Principal [as in 'first'] is the word I use here to denote 'where motion is imparted in the first instance.' A principle is an eternal law or truth.

Your essential nature (primary state of 'being') is divine and eternal, having always existed, and composed of the 'cosmic element;' you are an entity made of the eternal substance of aether, or "that which is always going." Aether has all potential motions present in it, being the principal or starting point of all potential actualities, even realized matter. Temporal matter (matter in and of time or the aether) is a potential state, and can be actualized or in motion but is not itself a principal or starting point of motion.

[matter = potentiality, motion = actuality.]

The phenomenon of Gravity is caused by matter reacting to the motion of aether, channeling it, becoming in a sense the conduit or extension of THE AETHER'S [capital S Space's] eternal motion.. The large mass of matter that is required for a planet [or say, any heavenly body or sphere] serves [upon many other things] as the anvil which upon the incessant clanks of the realized motions of numberless smaller bodies may secure a level of relativity by virtue of its larger 'pull,' divergence, or channeling of the aether's eternal motion towards itself. Creating an omni directional pocket in the motion of space [aether]. Thus establishing a plane of relativity for lesser motions or just simply smaller entities of motion [anima].

The faculty of the intellect [rationality] is conversant with actualized states, or motions; intelligence being a native to it, being of it. Language is composed of particular symbols of which the logic we derive stems from the proper understanding of the correlation between the motion and its relation to an entity. (Think subject predicate theory) Otherwise called a sentence or unit of thought. Our physical or temporal material body, senses particular potentialities, [entities of temporal matter, i.e potential states] as it is of this material and "like knows like"; but with our intellect, motions [actualized states] and the soul [whole being] the relation or truth, of the two with one another. Within the proper relation of the two is the truth of the logic. Motions are themselves immaterial, and so is the principal [intelligence being the principal behind all motions, eternal and thus universal] or starting point, where motion is imparted in the first instance of the intellect, which is the primary faculty of our being. This is not to say it is not composed of a substance, only that it is not of temporal matter or sensible-by-the-body matter, which is why we cannot sense it. Because senses are only conversant with things of that medium which are liable to change. But the nature or natural motion of Aether is eternal, and so are the intelligent beings therein. The nature or natural motions of temporal matter or the elements, are not eternal and can change into its respective contrary. This is a complex subject but a simple example of this is water, which is something sensed, being a part of the temporal medium, and of which the natural motion is 'down' towards the center of gravity, but can be converted into a gaseous state whereupon the natural motion of which no longer tends towards the center of gravity, but outwards and even upwards away from it, forming clouds. Eternal things are not sensed by our five senses, because their essential nature never changes, as there is no contrary to an infinite motion. And all qualitative changes are changes to the contrary. This is why space is the most eternal and invisible, seemingly unchanging "thing." Temporal Matter is only a dimension of it. A derivative of it. An extension. It is a medium that intelligence might be realized or expressed in, a potential state, realized by being imparted motion by intelligence, [aether] its principal, which may potentially impart motion by virtue of its eternal nature of always being in motion. Or "being" eternal.

“Matter too exists potentially, in order that it may come to a form. When it exists actually, then it is with its form Evidently then substance or form is actuality. By this reasoning too it is clear that the actual is prior in substance to the potential. As we have pointed out, something actual always comes in time before another, straight back to that actual which is the eternal first mover.”

[intelligence, aether]

“But in a deeper sense also the actual is prior to the potential, for things that are eternal are prior in substance to things perishable and nothing eternal exists potentially. The reason is this. Everything potential is at the same time a potentiality of contraries. For while that which is incapable of actual existence will not anywhere exist, everything that has the capacity may still not become actual. Accordingly, that which has the possibility of being may both be and not be. The same thing then is capable of both being and not being. And the thing that is capable of not being may possibly not be, and that which may possibly not be, that is, in some place or quantity or quality.” -Aristotle; Metaphysics - Classics Club Edition pages 31-32

Matter is a potential state generated [organized] from something already actual [in motion]. Matter is a derivative or extension of aether. Space [The Aether] is the intelligent medium, the Spirit which quickeneth all things and giveth life [motion] to all things.

29 Man was also in the beginning with God. Intelligence, or the light of truth, was not created or made, neither indeed can be. 30 All truth is independent in that sphere in which God has placed it, to act for itself, as all intelligence also; otherwise there is no existence. 31 Behold, here is the agency of man, and here is the condemnation of man; because that which was from the beginning is plainly manifest unto them, and they receive not the light. 32 And every man whose spirit receiveth not the light is under condemnation. 33 For man is spirit. the elements are eternal, and spirit and element, inseparably connected, receive a fulness of joy; 34 And when separated, man cannot receive a fulness of joy. 35 The elements are the tabernacle of God; yea, man is the tabernacle of God, even temples; and whatsoever temple is defiled, God shall destroy that temple. 36 The glory of God is intelligence, or, in other words, light and truth. 37 Light and truth forsake that evil one. 38 Every spirit of man was innocent in the beginning; and God having redeemed man from the fall, men became again, in their infant state, innocent before God. 39 And that wicked one cometh and taketh away light and truth, through disobedience, from the children of men, and because of the tradition of their fathers.

-Doctrine & Covenants 93: 29-39

36 All kingdoms have a law given;

37 And there are many kingdoms; for there is no space in the which there is no kingdom; and there is no kingdom in which there is no space, either a greater or a lesser kingdom.

38 And unto every kingdom is given a law; and unto every law there are certain bounds also and conditions.

39 All beings who abide not in those conditions are not justified.

40 For intelligence cleaveth unto intelligence; wisdom receiveth wisdom; truth embraceth truth; virtue loveth virtue; light cleaveth unto light; mercy hath compassion on mercy and claimeth her own; justice continueth its course and claimeth its own; judgment goeth before the face of him who sitteth upon the throne and governeth and executeth all things.

41 He comprehendeth all things, and all things are before him, and all things are round about him; and he is above all things, and in all things, and is through all things, and is round about all things; and all things are by him, and of him, even God, forever and ever.

42 And again, verily I say unto you, he hath given a law unto all things, by which they move in their times and their seasons;

43 And their courses are fixed, even the courses of the heavens and the earth, which comprehend the earth and all the planets.

44 And they give light to each other in their times and in their seasons, in their minutes, in their hours, in their days, in their weeks, in their months, in their years—all these are one year with God, but not with man.

-Doctrine & Covenants: 88: 36-44

<https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/scriptures/dc-testament/dc/88?lang=eng>

The Weight of our True Nature

To better understand man's nature, how and why many seek or are misled to forfeit their agency into the hands of another authority, read this famed passage which illuminates the human condition, titled The Grand Inquisitor, by Fyodor Dostoyevsky:

<https://www.gutenberg.org/cache/epub/8578/pg8578-images.html>

Ultimately the test on Earth is to choose if we will choose to do life ourselves, or externalize the responsibility of our own nature.

Carnal pleasure is death, because it is the externalization of the principal (where motion is imparted in the first instance) of Happiness.

It moves the starting point of happiness from inside oneself and the principal medium, to the whims of those things of the ever-changing, corruptible flux of the medium of temporal matter.

Quantum Mechanics

Quantum mechanics will ultimately prove the existence of the aether and that space is indeed a substance.

"May the universe in some strange sense be brought into being by the participation of those who participate? The vital act is the act of participation. Participator is the incontrovertible new concept given by quantum mechanics. It strikes down the term observer of classical theory, the man who stands safely behind the thick glass wall and watches what goes on without taking part. It can't be done, quantum mechanics says.

The languages of eastern mystics and western physicists are becoming very similar Newtonian physics and quantum mechanics are partners in a double irony Newtonian physics is based upon the idea of laws which govern phenomena and the power inherent in understanding them but it leads to impotence in the face of a Great Machine which is the universe. Quantum mechanics is based upon the idea of minimal knowledge of future phenomena (we are limited to knowing probabilities) but it leads to the possibility that our reality is what we choose to make it." - The Dancing Wu Li Masters, page 37

Implications pertaining to Energy Wave Technology [EWT]

Wave technology which uses energy and matter to impart motion to the medium of space itself (the 'spirit,' 'soul,' or Aether of the Cosmos) and the technology of externalizing the principal or starting point of where motion is imparted in the first instance, from that intelligence or aether based (Anima) and into a medium which breeds dependence and complacency, as we are unable to realize or be the principal or starting point of interacting with the intelligent medium of expression (temporal matter) directly to produce that which is necessary for our own existence and growth. Thus reducing and retaining from us the truth and principal of our own nature and relationship to life itself. We have been led slowly into trading our divine birthright for a carnal state of security through the externalization of the starting point of motion, and with it the natural relationship and dependency of our essential nature with the medium through which it is realized. They seek to rule the starting point of motion over our very being, namely the cause behind our personalities and our very lives.

This is the Digital Trojan Horse spoken of in the Majestic Documents.

- https://majesticdocuments.com/pdf/important_memo.pdf

"Joseph Weizenbaum, a scientist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, wrote, in reference to computers: "Science promised man power. But, as so often happens when people are seduced by promises of power, the price is servitude and impotence - Power is nothing if it is not the power to choose." - The Dancing Wu Li Masters, pages 24-25

The ultimate design of the adversary is to make us all the same by making us all slaves of dependency. On the other hand, The Plan of Happiness is designed to enable and promote the growth and autonomy of our individual power, our agency. One externalizes the principle or starting point of motion, the other retains its power within the individual agent themselves.

The plan of Happiness allows us to preserve the best part of our nature, the freedom of our expression of the unique, individual personality each of us are. Which means we get to remain the principal or starting point of where our own nature or natural motion extends from and be the agent of it. This plan involves initiating our being into the knowledge of good and evil, taking upon ourselves the responsibility of this freedom. We each rise and fall in our freedom according to our own agency, but there is always the measure of freedom present which we are willing to tolerate, and may be used to grow and enlarge our freedom through deliberately choosing obedience to reason, and to the laws and ordinances of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the redeemer of man.

<https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/manual/true-to-the-faith/plan-of-salvation?lang=eng>

Happiness is man's natural end, or telos. It is also our essential nature, as the actual comes before the potential's fullest realization or expression.

"We call the self sufficient, that which, taken even by itself, makes life desirable and wanting nothing at all; and this is what we mean by happiness."

- Aristotle, Nicomachean Ethics

"25. Adam fell that men might be; and men are, that they might have joy."

- 2 Nephi 2:25

"Moreover the final cause is an end and the sort of end that exists not for the sake of something else but all other things exist for it. So, if there is a final cause of this kind, the process of change and becoming will not be infinite. But if there is no such terminus, there will be no final cause. Those who insist in the infinite series do not realize that they are destroying the nature of the good. No man would start to do anything, if he did not expect to reach some end. Nor would there be any intelligence in the universe, because an intelligent man certainly always does things for a purpose and that is their terminus, for the end is the terminus..."

Further, if the kinds of causes were infinite in number, then knowledge would be impossible for us; for only when we have discovered its causes, do we think we know a thing; but an infinite sum cannot be counted over in a finite time." - Aristotle, Metaphysics, page 14, Classics Club Edition

Axis of evil (cosmology)

The "axis of evil" is a name given to the apparent correlation between the plane of the Solar System and aspects of the cosmic microwave background (CMB). It gives the plane of the Solar System and hence the location of Earth a greater significance than might be expected by chance – a result which has been claimed to be evidence of a departure from the Copernican principle as assumed in the concordance model. The cosmic microwave background (CMB) radiation signature presents a direct large-scale view of the universe that can be used to identify whether our position or movement has any particular significance. There has been much publicity about analysis of results from the Wilkinson Microwave Anisotropy Probe (WMAP) and Planck mission that show both expected and unexpected anisotropies in the CMB. The motion of the solar system, and the orientation of the plane of the ecliptic are aligned with features of the microwave sky, which on conventional thinking are caused by structure at the edge of the observable universe. Specifically, with respect to the ecliptic plane the "top half" of the CMB is slightly cooler than the "bottom half"; furthermore, the quadrupole and octupole axes are only a few degrees apart, and these axes are aligned with the top/bottom divide.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Axis_of_evil_\(cosmology\)#cite_note-5#cite_note-5)

“The new results are either telling us that all of science is wrong and we're the center of the universe, or maybe the data is simply incorrect, or maybe it's telling us there's something weird about the microwave background results and that maybe, maybe there's something wrong with our theories on the larger scales.”

“There appears to be energy of empty space that isn't zero! This flies in the face of all conventional wisdom in theoretical particle physics. It is the most profound shift in thinking, perhaps the most profound puzzle, in the latter half of the 20th century. And it may be the first half of the 21st century, or maybe go all the way to the 22nd century. Because, unfortunately, I happen to think we won't be able to rely on experiment to resolve this problem.”

“I invited a group of cosmologists, experimentalists, theorists, and particle physicists. Stephen Hawking came. We had three Nobel laureates: Gerard 't Hooft, David Gross, Frank Wilczek; well-known cosmologists and physicists such as Jim Peebles at Princeton, Alan Guth at MIT, Kip Thorne at Caltech, Lisa Randall at Harvard; experimentalists, such as Barry Barish of LIGO, the gravitational wave observatory; we had observational cosmologists, people looking at the cosmic microwave background; we had Maria Spiropulu from CERN, who's working on the Large Hadron Collider—which, a decade ago, people wouldn't have thought it was a probe of gravity, but now due to recent work in the possibility of extra dimensions it might be.”

<https://www.edge.org/conversation/the-energy-of-empty-space-that-isn-39t-zero>

History of the Watchers

The Watchers (Fallen Angels, Titans, Oracles, Demons) were originally angels, or higher dimensional beings, placed to watch and protect the Earth whilst in its probationary period. After allowing evil to work in their hearts, a number of these angels fell from a higher dimension, to intermingle with the inhabitants of the Earth, and be like gods unto men. Ultimately corrupting human ecology and human society throughout the ancient world even from the beginning.

<https://mythologyexplained.com/the-watchers-in-the-book-of-enoche/>

Nearly every civilization in history was infiltrated by the Watchers or their influence. Ultimately leading to their utter dependency upon a system of externalizing the principal of motion upon a foundation that inevitably collapses. The written record of several distinct ancient cultures allude to this reality. These are only a few:

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Titans>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Babylon>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sumur_\(Levant\))

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Canaan>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NIAE1y0iRWA>

Huwawa (𒀠𒀭𒀠, Hu-wa-w), was a figure in Mesopotamian mythology. The origin and meaning of his name are unknown. He was portrayed as an anthropomorphic figure comparable to an ogre, giant or demon. He is best known from myths focused on the hero Gilgamesh, including short compositions belonging to the curriculum of scribal schools, various versions of the Epic of Gilgamesh, and additionally Hurrian and Hittite adaptations. He is invariably portrayed as the inhabitant or guardian of the cedar forest to which Gilgamesh ventures with his companion Enkidu. They clash, which leads to the death of Humbaba. The event typically causes the anger of the gods. He is also attested in other works of Mesopotamian literature. Multiple depictions of him have also been identified, including combat scenes and apotropaic clay heads. It is presumed that in Greece the iconography of Humbaba influenced depictions of the gorgons, in particular scenes of Perseus slaying Medusa with the help of Athena. A late derivative of Humbaba can be also found in both Jewish and Manichaean versions of the Book of Giants, where one of the eponymous beings is referred to as Ḥōbabiš, Ḥōbabis or Ḥōbāiš. While it is agreed the name is derived from his own, the context in which it appears shows no similarity to known myths involving him. Traces of Ḥōbabiš have also been identified in a number of later works belonging to Islamic tradition, such as religious polemics.

-https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Humbaba

“During the Second Temple Period, when Jews were living in the Achaemenid Empire, Judaism was heavily influenced by Zoroastrianism, the religion of the Achaemenids. Jewish conceptions of Satan were impacted by Angra Mainyu, the Zoroastrian spirit of evil, darkness, and ignorance. In the Septuagint, the Hebrew ha-Satan in Job and Zechariah is translated by the Greek word diabolos (slanderer), the same word in the Greek New Testament from which the English word “devil” is derived. Where satan is used to refer to human enemies in the Hebrew Bible, such as Hadad the Edomite and Rezon the Syrian, the word is left untranslated but transliterated in the Greek as satan, a neologism in Greek. The idea of Satan as an opponent of God and a purely evil figure seems to have taken root in Jewish pseudepigrapha during the Second Temple Period,[38] particularly in the apocalypses. The Book of Enoch, which the Dead Sea Scrolls have revealed to have been nearly as popular as the Torah, describes a group of 200 angels known as the "Watchers", who are assigned to supervise the earth, but instead abandon their duties and have sexual intercourse with human women. The leader of the Watchers is Semjâzâ and another member of the group, known as Azazel, spreads sin and corruption among humankind. The Watchers are ultimately sequestered in isolated caves across the earth and are condemned to face judgement at the end of time. The Book of Jubilees, written in around 150 BC,[43] retells the story of the Watchers' defeat, but, in deviation from the Book of Enoch, Mastema, the "Chief of Spirits", intervenes before all of their demon offspring are sealed away, requesting for Yahweh to let him keep some of them to become his workers. Yahweh acquiesces this request and Mastema uses them to tempt humans into committing more sins, so that he may punish them for their wickedness. Later, Mastema induces Yahweh to test Abraham by ordering him to sacrifice Isaac. The Second Book of Enoch, also called the Slavonic Book of Enoch, contains references to a Watcher called Satanael. It is a pseudepigraphic text of an uncertain date and unknown authorship. The text describes Satanael as being the prince of the Grigori who was cast out of heaven and an evil spirit who knew the difference between what was "righteous" and "sinful". In the Book of Wisdom, the devil is taken to be the being who brought death into the world, but originally the culprit was recognized as Cain. The name Samael, which is used in reference to one of the fallen angels, later became a common name for Satan in Jewish Midrash and Kabbalah." - <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Satan>

11. And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon.
-Revelations 9:11

51. For, from the days of Cain, there was a secret combination, and their works were in the dark, and they knew every man his brother. Moses 5:51

From: The Book of the Watchers

[Chapter 6]

1 And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born unto them beautiful and comely daughters. And the angels, the children of the heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said to one another: 'Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men and beget us children.' And Semjaza, who was their leader, said unto them: 'I fear ye will not indeed agree to do this deed, and I alone shall have to pay the penalty of a great sin.' And they all answered him and said: 'Let us all swear an oath, and all bind ourselves by mutual imprecations not to abandon this plan but to do this thing.' Then sware they all together and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. And they were in all two hundred; who descended in the days of Jared on the summit of Mount Hermon, and they called it Mount Hermon, because they had sworn and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. And these are the names of their leaders: Samlazaz, their leader, Araklba, Rameel, Kokabel, Tamlel, Ramlel, Danel, Ezeqeel, Baraqijal, Asael, Armaros, Batarel, Ananel, Zaqiel, Samsapeel, Satarel, Turel, Jomjael, Sariel. These are their chiefs of tens.

[Chapter 7]

1 And all the others together with them took unto themselves wives, and each chose for himself one, and they began to go in unto them and to defile themselves with them, and they taught them charms and enchantments, and the cutting of roots, and made them acquainted with plants. And they became pregnant, and they bare great giants, whose height was three thousand ells: Who consumed all the acquisitions of men. And when men could no longer sustain them, the giants turned against them and devoured mankind. And they began to sin against birds, and beasts, and reptiles, and fish, and to devour one another's flesh, and drink the blood. Then the earth laid accusation against the lawless ones.

[Chapter 8]

1 And Azazel taught men to make swords, and knives, and shields, and breastplates, and made known to them the metals of the earth and the art of working them, and bracelets, and ornaments, and the use of antimony, and the beautifying of the eyelids, and all kinds of costly stones, and all colouring tinctures. And there arose much godlessness, and they committed fornication, and they were led astray, and became corrupt in all their ways. Semjaza taught enchantments, and root-cuttings, 'Armaros the resolving of enchantments, Baraqijal (taught) astrology, Kokabel the constellations, Ezeqeel the knowledge of the clouds, Araqiel the signs of the earth, Shamsiel the signs of the sun, and Sariel the course of the moon. And as men perished, they cried, and their cry went up to heaven . . .

[Chapter 9]

1 And then Michael, Uriel, Raphael, and Gabriel looked down from heaven and saw much blood being shed upon the earth, and all lawlessness being wrought upon the earth. And they said one to another: 'The earth made without inhabitant cries the voice of their cryings up to the gates of heaven. And now to you, the holy ones of heaven, the souls of men make their suit, saying, "Bring our cause before the Most High.'" And they said to the Lord of the ages: 'Lord of lords, God of gods, King of kings, and God of the ages, the throne of Thy glory (standeth) unto all the generations of the ages, and Thy name holy and glorious and blessed unto all the ages! Thou hast made all things, and power over all things hast Thou: and all things are naked and open in Thy sight, and Thou seest all things, and nothing can hide itself from Thee. Thou seest what Azazel hath done, who hath taught all unrighteousness on earth and revealed the eternal secrets which were (preserved) in heaven, which men were striving to learn: And Semjaza, to whom Thou hast given authority to bear rule over his associates. And they have gone to the daughters of men upon the earth, and have slept with the women, and have defiled themselves, and revealed to them all kinds of sins. And the women have borne giants, and the whole earth has thereby been filled with blood and unrighteousness. And now, behold, the souls of those who have died are crying and making their suit to the gates of heaven, and their lamentations have ascended: and cannot cease because of the lawless deeds which are wrought on the earth. And Thou knowest all things before they come to pass, and Thou seest these things and Thou dost suffer them, and Thou dost not say to us what we are to do to them in regard to these.'

https://ccel.org/c/charles/otpseudepig/enoch/ENOCH_1.HTM

Possibly the mythical 'fire of the Gods' "Prometheus" was punished for introducing was that which externalized the starting point of motion into a medium which ultimately is set to evolve into wave technology. Electricity. Or some sort of energy wave technology.

The Titans-are-the-Watchers-are-The Demons. Our language and culture has been scattered since the days of the destruction of the Tower of Babel. The wicked will punish the wicked. When human society is lulled into complacency, trading the innate principal of life for carnal dependency, Watchers are able to infiltrate and subvert it.

The Watchers have infiltrated and corrupted society each time in the past insofar as humans would fall into wickedness and allow externalization of the principal of motion into the medium which they would then become dependent and reliant upon, (external, unnatural starting points of motion) usurping their natural birthright to bear the responsibility of the starting point of motion to their own agency. After the "flood" the Archangels (other Watchers or protectors of a still higher dimension of being who did not fall) locked the now demons, or fallen angels, within the deepest valley of the earth during the last great catastrophe, the flood. And have since established from there through UAP liaison contact with mankind, attracting those in power, tempting those who covet the power of "wearing the ring of Gyges," and so spread their cabal and influence on earth. Implementing their wicked designs and their malevolent-to-man directives, as well as guiding their attempts to free them. Which may have already proven successful..

“1 And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit.”

-Revelations 9:1-2

Excerpts on Asmodeus as a Watcher or Watcher Progeny; corroborated through various ancient texts. The following taken from: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Asmodeus>

In the Book of Tobit

The Asmodeus of the Book of Tobit is hostile to Sarah, Raguel's daughter, (Tobit 6:13); and slays seven successive husbands on their wedding nights, impeding the sexual consummation of the marriages. In the New Jerusalem Bible translation, he is described as "the worst of demons" (Tobit 3:8). When the young Tobias is about to marry her, Asmodeus proposes the same fate for him, but Tobias is enabled, through the counsels of his attendant angel Raphael, to render him innocuous. By placing a fish's heart and liver on red-hot cinders, Tobias produces a smoky vapour that causes the demon to flee to Egypt, where Raphael binds him (Tobit 8:2–3). According to some translations, Asmodeus is strangled.

Perhaps Asmodeus punishes the suitors for their carnal desire, since Tobias prays to be free from such desire and is kept safe. Asmodeus is also described as an evil spirit in general: 'Ασμοδαίος τὸ πονηρὸν δαιμόνιον or τὸ δαιμόνιον πονηρὸν, and πνεῦμα ἀκάθαρτον (Tobit 3:8); Tobit 3:17); Tobit 6:13; Tobit 8:3

In the Talmud

The figure of Ashmedai in the Talmud is less malign in character than the Asmodeus of Tobit. In the former, he appears repeatedly in the light of a good-natured and humorous fellow. But besides that, there is one feature in which he parallels Asmodeus, in as much as his desires turn upon Bathsheba and later Solomon's wives.

Another Talmudic legend has King Solomon tricking Asmodai into collaborating in the construction of Solomon's Temple (see: The Story of King Solomon and Ashmedai).

Another legend depicts Asmodai throwing King Solomon over 400 leagues away from the capital by putting one wing on the ground and the other stretched skyward. He then changed places for some years with King Solomon. When King Solomon returned, Asmodai fled from his wrath. Similar legends can be found in Islamic lore. Asmodeus is referred to as Sakhr (Arabic: صخر the Rock or the Stony One), because Solomon banished him into a rock, after he takes his kingdom back from him. He is considered to be a king of the jinn or demons (divs).

Another passage describes him as marrying Lilith, who became his queen.

In the Testament of Solomon

In the Testament of Solomon, a 1st–3rd century text, the king invokes Asmodeus to aid in the construction of the Temple. The demon appears and predicts Solomon's kingdom will one day be divided (Testament of Solomon, verse 21–25). When Solomon interrogates Asmodeus further, the king learns that Asmodeus is thwarted by the angel Raphael, as well as by sheatfish found in the rivers of Assyria. He also admits to hating water. Asmodeus claims that he was born of a human mother and an angel father.

In the Malleus Maleficarum

In the Malleus Maleficarum (1486), Asmodeus was considered the demon of lust. Sebastien Michaelis said that his adversary is St. John. Some demonologists of the 16th century assigned a month to a demon and considered November to be the month in which Asmodai's power was strongest. Other demonologists asserted that his zodiacal sign was Aquarius but only between January 30 and February 8.

He has 72 legions of demons under his command. He is one of the Kings of Hell under Lucifer the emperor. He incites gambling, and is the overseer of all the gambling houses in the court of Hell. Some Catholic theologians compared him with Abaddon. Yet other authors considered Asmodeus a prince of revenge.

In the Dictionnaire Infernal

The Dictionnaire Infernal (1818) by Collin de Plancy portrays Asmodeus with the breast of a man, a cock leg, serpent tail, three heads (one of a man spitting fire, one of a sheep, and one of a bull), riding a lion with dragon wings and neck - all of these creatures being associated with either lasciviousness, lust or revenge in some cultures. The Archbishop of Paris approved the portrait.

In the Lesser Key of Solomon

Asmodai appears as the king 'Asmoday' in the Ars Goetia, where he is said to have a seal in gold and is listed as number thirty-two according to respective rank.

He "is strong, powerful and appears with three heads; the first is like a bull, the second like a man, and the third like a ram; the tail of a serpent, and from his mouth issue flames of fire." Also, he sits upon an infernal dragon, holds a lance with a banner and, amongst the Legions of Amaymon, Asmoday governs seventy-two legions of inferior spirits.

The Historical Similarities Between the Watchers and The Titans

Biblical pseudepigrapha

"Tartarus occurs in the Septuagint translation of Job (40:20 and 41:24) into Koine Greek, and in Hellenistic Jewish literature from the Greek text of the Book of Enoch, dated to 400–200 BC. This states that God placed the archangel Uriel "in charge of the world and of Tartarus" (20:2). Tartarus is generally understood to be the place where 200 fallen Watchers (angels) are imprisoned. Reference to the watchers of the book of Enoch is also observed in Jude 1:6-7 where scripture describes Angels being bound by chains under everlasting darkness, and 2 Peter 2:4 which further describes fallen angels committed to chains in Tartarus. In Hypostasis of the Archons (also translated 'Reality of the Rulers'), an apocryphal gnostic treatise dated before 350 AD, Tartarus makes a brief appearance when Zōē (life), the daughter of Sophia (wisdom) casts Ialdabaoth (demiurge) down to the bottom of the abyss of Tartarus. In The Book of Thomas, Tartarus is claimed by Jesus to be the place where those who hear the word of Judas Thomas and "turn away or sneer" are to be sent. These damned will be handed over to the angel or power Tartarouchos. which flows a flaming river named "the Phlegethon. To further prevent escape, a hydra with fifty black, gaping jaws, sits atop a gate that screeches when opened. They are flanked by adamantine columns, a substance that, like diamond, is so hard, nothing can cut through it. Inside the walls of Tartarus sits a wide-walled castle with a tall, iron turret. Tisiphone, one of the Erinyes who represents vengeance, stands sleepless guard at the top of the turret lashing her whip. Roman mythology describes a pit inside extending down into the earth twice as far as the distance from the lands of the living to Olympus. The twin sons of the Titan Aloeus were said to be imprisoned at the bottom of this pit.

New Testament

Tartarus occurs in the Septuagint translation of Job (40:20 and 41:24) into Koine Greek, and in Hellenistic Jewish literature from the Greek text of the Book of Enoch, dated to 400–200 BC. This states that God placed the archangel Uriel "in charge of the world and of Tartarus" (20:2). Tartarus is generally understood to be the place where 200 fallen Watchers (angels) are imprisoned. Reference to the watchers of the book of Enoch is also observed in Jude 1:6-7 where scripture describes Angels being bound by chains under everlasting darkness, and 2 Peter 2:4 which further describes fallen angels committed to chains in Tartarus. In Hypostasis of the Archons (also translated 'Reality of the Rulers'), an apocryphal gnostic treatise dated before 350 AD, Tartarus makes a brief appearance when Zōē (life), the daughter of Sophia (wisdom) casts Ialdabaōth (demiurge) down to the bottom of the abyss of Tartarus.

In The Book of Thomas, Tartaros is claimed by Jesus to be the place where those who hear the word of Judas Thomas and "turn away or sneer" are to be sent. These damned will be handed over to the angel or power Tartarouchos. In the New Testament, the noun Tartarus does not occur but tartaroō (ταρταρώω, "throw to Tartarus"), a shortened form of the classical Greek verb kata-tartaroō ("throw down to Tartarus"), does appear in 2 Peter 2:4. Liddell–Scott provides other sources for the shortened form of this verb, including Acusilaus (5th century BC), Joannes Laurentius Lydus (4th century AD) and the Scholiast on Aeschylus' Eumenides, who cites Pindar relating how the earth tried to tartaro "cast down" Apollo after he overcame the Python. In classical texts, the longer form kata-tartaroo is often related to the throwing of the Titans down to Tartarus. The English Standard Version is one of several English versions that gives the Greek reading Tartarus as a footnote:

For if God did not spare angels when they sinned, but cast them into hell(a) and committed them to chains(b) of gloomy darkness to be kept until the judgment;

— 2 Peter 2:4 (<https://www.esv.org/2+Peter+2:4>) (Footnote a: Greek Tartarus)

Adam Clarke reasoned that Peter's use of language relating to the Titans was an indication that the ancient Greeks had heard of a Biblical punishment of fallen angels. Some Evangelical Christian commentaries distinguish Tartarus as a place for wicked angels and Gehenna as a place for wicked humans on the basis of this verse. Other Evangelical commentaries, in reconciling that some fallen angels are chained in Tartarus, yet some not, attempt to distinguish between one type of fallen angel and another.”

- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tartarus#cite_note-30

Hesiod, Theogony - [lines 617-653]

“But the son of Cronos and the other deathless gods [625] whom rich-haired Rhea bore from union with Cronos, brought them up again to the light at Earth's advising. For she herself recounted all things to the gods fully, how with these they might gain victory and a glorious cause to vaunt themselves. [630] For the Titan gods and as many as sprang from Cronos had long been fighting together in stubborn war with heart-grieving toil, the lordly Titans from high Othrys, but the gods, givers of good, whom rich-haired Rhea bore in union with Cronos, from Olympus. [635] So they, with bitter wrath, were fighting continually with one another at that time for ten full years, and the hard strife had no close or end for either side, and the issue of the war hung evenly balanced. But when he had provided those three with all things fitting, [640] nectar and ambrosia which the gods themselves eat, and when their proud spirit revived within them all after they had fed on nectar and delicious ambrosia, then it was that the father of men and gods spoke amongst them: “Hear me, bright children of Earth and Heaven, [645] that I may say what my heart within me bids. A long while now have we, who are sprung from Cronos and the Titan gods, fought with each other every day to get victory and to prevail. But show your great might and unconquerable strength, and [650] face the Titans in bitter strife; for remember our friendly kindness, and from what sufferings you are come back to the light from your cruel bondage under misty gloom through our counsels.”

<https://www.perseus.tufts.edu/hopper/text?doc=Perseus%3Atext%3A1999.01.0130%3Acard%3D617>

- *see later, quicken

Genesis 6:4 The Nephilim were in the earth in those days, and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bore children to them; the same were the mighty men that were of old, the men of renown.

Perhaps the Olympian gods being the progeny of watcher and watched, or fallen angel and fallen angel, were the original force who rallied mankind and were able to subdue and banish the Titans; being the only beings on the same level of power as them, but who did not themselves choose to 'fall' to Earth. This would account for why they were able to overpower their predecessors, by surpassing them in obedience to the true metaphysical laws of being.

The Historical relationship between The Watchers, The Cedars of Lebanon [Cedars of The Gods], and Mount Hermon

'The Cedars of Lebanon' and 'Mount Hermon' are possible ancient locations that The Watchers landed in or used to hide and operate from. Somewhat Akin to modern day sites such as Area 51 or more classified SAP 'Air Force' bases underground or within the ocean, lunar, etc. There appears to be a corroboration among distinct historical accounts pertaining to certain locations in our past which were in some way shape or form related to the doings of The Watchers.

Mount Hermon

Mount Hermon (Arabic: جبل حرمون or جبل الشيخ / ALA-LC: Jabal al-Shaykh ("Mountain of the Sheikh") or Jabal Haramun; Hebrew: הרֶחַרְמוֹן, Har Hermon) is a mountain cluster constituting the southern end of the Anti-Lebanon mountain range. Its summit straddles the border between Syria and Lebanon and, at 2,814 m (9,232 ft) above sea level, is the highest point in Syria. On the top, in the United Nations buffer zone between Syrian and Israeli-occupied territories, is the highest permanently manned UN position in the world, known as "Hermon Hotel", located at 2814 metres altitude.

Qasr Antar inscription and Hermon as the "mountain of oath"

There is a sacred building made of hewn blocks of stone on the summit of Mount Hermon. Known as Qasr Antar, it is the highest temple of the ancient world and was documented by Sir Charles Warren in 1869. An inscription on a limestone stele recovered by Warren from Qasr Antar was translated by George Nickelsburg to read "According to the command of the greatest a(nd) Holy God, those who take an oath (proceed) from here." Nickelsburg connected the inscription with the oath taken by the angels under Semjaza who took an oath together, bound by a curse, in order to take human wives in the Book of Enoch (1 Enoch 6:6)

Hermon was said to have become known as "the mountain of oath" by Charles Simon Clermont-Ganneau. The name of God was supposed to be a Hellenized version of Ba'al or Hadad and Nickelsburg connected it with the place name of Baal-Hermon (Lord of Hermon) and the deity given by Enoch as "The Great Holy One"

Religious importance since Antiquity

Various temples can be found in villages on the slopes of Mount Hermon.

Mount Hermon's name has been related to the Semitic root ḥrm, which means "taboo" or "consecrated", and the Arabic term al-ḥaram, which means "sacred enclosure".

Epic of Gilgamesh

The Epic of Gilgamesh mentions that Mount Hermon split after Gilgamesh killed Humbaba, the Guardian of the Cedar Forest. One translation of Tablet V states, "The ground split open with the heels of their feet, as they whirled around in circles Mt. Hermon and Lebanon split."

Ugaritic religion

The mountain or summit is referred to as Saphon in Ugaritic texts where the palace of Ba'al is located in a myth about Attar.

Hebrew Bible and apocrypha

In Deuteronomy 3:8–9, Joshua 12:1, and 13:11, Mount Hermon is depicted as the northern boundary of the Amorite kingdom, which following the conquest by Joshua was awarded to the half-tribe of Manasseh east of the Jordan River.

The Hebrew Bible uses three names for Mount Hermon, stating in Deut 3:9 that "the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, while the Amorites call it Senir", but elsewhere (1Chr 5:23) seems to distinguish between Senir and Hermon, probably using the names for two of the three peaks of the Hermon range, while in Psalm 42:6 the Hebrew text uses the plural form, Hermonim, possibly also a reference to the three peaks.

The Book of Chronicles mentions Mount Hermon as a place where Ephraim, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel were the heads of their families (1 Chronicles 5:23–24)

In Psalm 42, which leads the Psalms of the northern kingdom, the Psalmist remembers God from the land of Jordan and the Hermonites. In Song of Songs 4:8, Hermon is an instance of an exotic locale, and Psalm 133, one of the Songs of Ascents, makes specific reference to the abundant dew formation upon Mount Hermon. The Book of Ezekiel (27:5), meanwhile, praises its cypresses (referring to it by its alternate name Senir (cf. Deut. 3:9).

In the apocryphal Book of Enoch, Mount Hermon is the place where the Watcher class of fallen angels descended to Earth. They swear upon the mountain that they would take wives among the daughters of men and take mutual imprecation for their sin (Enoch 6).

According to the controversial research by Professor Israel Knohl of the Hebrew University, in his book "Hashem", Mount Hermon is actually the Mount Sinai mentioned in the Hebrew Bible, with the biblical story reminiscent of an ancient battle of the northern tribes with the Egyptians somewhere in the Jordan valley or Golan heights.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mount_Hermon

Cedars of The Gods

Ancient history

It was once said that a battle occurred between the demigods and the humans over the beautiful and divine forest of Cedar trees near southern Mesopotamia. This forest, once protected by the Sumerian god Enlil, was completely bared of its trees when humans entered its grounds 4700 years ago, after winning the battle against the guardians of the forest, the demigods. The story also tells that Gilgamesh used cedar wood to build his city.

Biblical and other ancient references

The Cedar Forest of ancient Mesopotamian religion appears in several sections of the Epic of Gilgamesh.

The Lebanon Cedar is mentioned 103 times in the Bible. In the Hebrew text it is named Hebrew: ארז and in the Greek text (LXX) it is named Greek: κέδρου. Example verses include:

- "Open thy doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour thy cedars. Howl, fir tree; for the cedar is fallen; because the mighty are spoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Bashan; for the forest of the vintage is come down." (Zechariah 11:1, 2)...
- "The voice of the Lord breaks the cedars; the Lord breaks in pieces the cedars of Lebanon" (Psalm 29:5)
- "I destroyed the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars" (Amos)2:9

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cedars_of_God (excerpts)

What are UAP or craft of Non-Human origin [NHI]

According to the 'Objectives History And Organization Of Operation Majestic,' these SAPS have confirmed four distinct 'types' of NHI beings.

- A. Earth-like humanoids. There are several variations more-or-less like ourselves. The majority of these are friendly and are the bulk of our EBE contacts. Most have a high degree of psychic ability and all use science and engineering of an advanced nature.
- B. Small humanoids or "Greys". The Greys, so-called for the hue of skin possessed by most of this type, are a sort of drone. The[y] are not unlike the worker ants or bees. They are a type of genetic clone incapable of sexual reproduction. With little or no independent will, they are mostly under the psychic control of the Earth-like humanoids who raise them like pets (or a kind of slave). A detailed explanation of this cultural oddity and its role in the form of space travel these EBEs employ is addressed elsewhere in this briefing. Assuming the Greys are under benign control, they are harmless.
- C. Non-humanoid EBEs. These are in several classes and come from worlds where dominant morphology took a different evolutionary course. Many of these are dangerous not for organized hostile intentions, but because such creatures do not hold human life as sacred. To them we are animals despite our intelligence. A few are friendly because their cultures forbid all acts against living creatures. Thus far, contact has been minimal with only a handful of unfortunate encounters.
- D. Transmorphic Entities. Of all the forms of EBE studied so-far by operation Majestic, these are the most difficult to understand or even give a description of. Essentially, such entities are not "beings", or "creatures" TEs exist in some other dimension or plane which is to say not in our space or time. They do not use devices to travel in space. Only once has a member of an MJ-12 contact team been privileged to be present when introduced by an Earth-like EBE to a TE. In essence these entities are composed of pure mind energy. They are not unlike "ghostly spirits" and seem to be only curious about our universe. They are said (by other EBEs) to be capable of taking on any physical form that they "channel" their energy into as matter.

What I think these most likely represent:

- a. Either lost tribes of Israel (advanced man) or beings imitating their appearance or identity.
- b. Incarnations, drone slaves, possibly abductees or slave race of the watchers and cabal
- c. Watchers in their transformed state, and or possibly their creations or offspring
- d. Satan

The concept of a spacecraft is an aether-craft, in the same way a boat is a watercraft. Both are suited to traversing and capitalizing upon the natural motions of their particular mediums. UAP are commonly piloted by NHI [The Watchers] consciousness or by biological AI drones, or incarnations created by their advanced knowledge and assembled from young humans, animal parts, disembodied spirits and advanced technology and scientific understanding. Manipulated through mutilation, energy wave technology and biological engineering, becoming a lobotomized being able to be controlled and pilot advanced tech, 'flying' crafts made and/or possibly retrieved from prior times through the historical knowledge of the Watchers. Able to survive in certain extreme conditions, and sent from and to beneath the earth and moon as the liaison from their separate confinements, to the children of men which have covenanted to serve them in order to be on the inside and commit all manner of wickedness without consequence. Ranging from abductions, tortures, market manipulation, psychological ops, murder, political policy, manipulating public opinion, bribery, wars, war crimes, illegal imprisonment etc. The world and its inhabitants are the playground for these people, and in return, they follow and implement these wicked designs against their fellow men.

https://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/archivos_pdf/assessment-situation-statement-position-ufos.pdf

<https://www.bbc.com/future/article/20230605-the-hidden-mountains-lurking-deep-within-our-planet>

[a possibility is still open that in past times these crafts were 'sent' into the future]
[a possibility that these crafts are of ancient make (possibly the ships of Tarshish) and are being retrieved and reverse engineered. The ones which have crashed were failed attempts at using the crafts as routine liaison between human and Watcher]

(Humans associated with the cabal, have through SAPs [Special Access Programs] have their own reverse engineered interdimensional craft, piloted by men and energy waves or some aspect of consciousness possibly amplified with advanced technology)

<https://www.dia.mil/FOIA/FOIA-Electronic-Reading-Room/FileId/170050/>

It could be that before their confinement, they set up a dormant race of greys [incarnations] on the dark side of the moon, or their was formerly a civilization or base which would send down the first 'dandelion seed' upon receiving an electrical wave signal from earth, signifying the time had come where men had reached the point where the resources and institutions necessary to implement their designs.

Once contact is established, the ancient and abominable rites of old are re-introduced and the cabal uses these human puppets to infiltrate and corrupt society. Through the introduction of advanced technology that humans would otherwise gradually discover on our own. Principally in this case advanced energy wave technology.

Radio-TV-Internet-AI-Metaverse-???etc. Each requires the advances of the former to evolve into the latter. These technologies are unique because they involve using technologies constructed out of temporal matter and energy to impart motion upon space itself.

Enough “negative wave energy” (sin, principal motion contrary to the harmony of the cosmos, against the natural causes of motion) could distort or open up a hole to another dimension by the effect the sum of all the unnatural motion, combined with or amplified by the sophisticated energy wave technology. As sin is principal [aethereal] motion contrary to eternal law and the harmony of the cosmos created by the participants' free expression.

They are also using this wave technology to create weapons to use against the branches of the human tree that have done the opposite of these watchers and instead transcended human society while on earth, and whose civilization was spirited away by God in wisdom to return to be reunited with the human family in the last days, far more advanced than the cabal. The cabal are afraid and preparing advanced energy wave defenses for the return of our family. The city of Enoch will return with the spirit of righteousness, to help preserve the last remnant of man in those days who desire to truly be free and follow in the teachings of freedom.

Meanwhile, billions or more of dollars are taken [stolen] without any say or representation from the American people or their elected representatives, to fund the dark projects of these secret combinations known as SAPs. The cabal knows the Watchers are preparing the earth for its total material destruction, and mankind for their total spiritual destruction [the destruction of the agency of the natural motion of their primary existence.]

With seemingly God like knowledge and powers they have shifted the natural human dependency from us quite willingly and taken it from the natural medium of realized intelligences organized by God (The natural world) in which it grows in understanding of its own nature and the ability and desire to realize its own expression; and into an apparatus based in the ever evolving medium, the “Digital Trojan Horse” of wave technology. A powerful medium which can unlock the innate potential of space [aether] itself to interact with the material world through and across space writ large and of which the principal [or where motion is imparted in the first instance] is “unnatural.” Or not initiated by an intelligence.

When you begin to understand that this war has been going on since before the creation of this earth, and that the fallout in heaven which caused the war in heaven and that has continued upon this earth, was caused by the son of the star of the morning, Lucifer, who desired that all who came to earth would attain salvation, at the expense of our agency. God rejected this plan and chose Christ who, like God Himself, desires the cosmos to be the full sum of the realized expression of all intelligences therein, meaning the full realized extent of their personality, and how agency is essential to this, as it is the expression of our personality.

This is an attack on the very foundation of our being, namely our agency, or the starting point of our own potential happiness being realized.

7 And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, 8 And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven. 9 And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. 10 And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. 11 And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death. 12 Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time.

-Revelations 12: 7-12

They [fallen angels/demons/watchers/titans] lead the cabal with advanced knowledge and technology from their underground and/or possibly lunar confinement, allowing their servants the humans to wear the “ring of Gyges” and abuse the natural ecosystem of the good as well as institute wicked designs and disrupt the natural human dependence upon God and His creations [Anima, intelligence, nature, natural motions where the principal or starting point of motion is a natural intelligence] and slowly and secretly shift that relationship of dependence to a medium where the principal is unnatural [external from an intelligence] where it can be manipulated; as well as polluting and corrupting the planet and its ability to provide all things necessary for human life. Our genome is being changed and conditioned by them and we are becoming domesticated, artificially dependent upon this unnatural apparatus for which we depend for all things necessary for life, and our increasingly carnal desires.

They pay no consequences, and have the technology, influence, and motive to maintain all secrecy and virtually all compliance. And have led us into a state of complacency with this technology and into carnal security. This allows them to go unchecked as they control the medium which in turn controls us through our dependency. We affect our nature [natural motion] by imparting motion into the material medium, which in turn has an equal and opposite effect on our motion or 'nature.' As we slowly fall deeper into an unnatural reliance on a medium where we cannot realize or actualize our true nature and freedom of expression. A medium that they control and manipulate.

When we willingly externalize the principal or starting point of motion into a medium which can ultimately be manipulated, and our control within rendered void. This is the "digital Trojan horse" introduced by the army (arpa-net) and ultimately, almost imperceptibly, leading us into carnal security and complacency. As we realize less and less of our nature and choose to offload our natural motion to machines of this medium, so that we may better enjoy our carnal pleasures and be lulled into a slumber far away from realizing the responsibility of our essential and true nature in the true intelligent medium and consistently improving and refining our own nature.

Once overt, the secret combination will fool virtually the entire human race with showings of incomprehensible powers, abilities and technology as well as the employment of sophisticated rhetoric. They will convince the world that the remaining free people are the evil and must be destroyed for the good and survival of the planet and the human race. Or that only they can save mankind from some even greater existential threat. The cabal which by now has garnered the support of the vast majority of the human race, will wage a final war [wars by now will have been raging] and the free people will suffer under this attack for the space of three and a half years. Lost branches of the human family will return and preserve the gathered free people. The cabal will then attempt to destroy Israel after being foiled by "Ezekiel's wheels." Crafts which bring the arrival of the lost tribes of Israel. The four headed beast represents the four crests or banners of the lost tribes of Israel.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WWeDufXTt3A>

Ezekiel 10:9-21

I looked, and I saw beside the cherubim four wheels, one beside each of the cherubim; the wheels sparkled like chrysolite. As for their appearance, the four of them looked alike; each was like a wheel intersecting a wheel. As they moved, they would go in any one of the four directions the cherubim faced; the wheels did not turn about as the cherubim went. The cherubim went in whatever direction the head faced, without turning as they went. Their entire bodies, including their backs, their hands and their wings, were completely full of eyes, as were their four wheels. I heard the wheels being called "the whirling wheels." Each of the cherubim had four faces: One face was that of a cherub, the second the face of a man, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle. Then the cherubim rose upward. These were the living creatures I had seen by the Kebar River. When the cherubim moved, the wheels beside them moved; and when the cherubim spread their wings to rise from the ground, the wheels did not leave their side. When the cherubim stood still, they also stood still; and when the cherubim rose, they rose with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in them. Then the glory of the LORD departed from over the threshold of the temple and stopped above the cherubim. While I watched, the cherubim spread their wings and rose from the ground, and as they went, the wheels went with them. They stopped at the entrance to the east gate of the LORD's house, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them. These were the living creatures I had seen beneath the God of Israel by the Kebar River, and I realized that they were cherubim. Each had four faces and four wings, and under their wings was what looked like the hands of a man.

https://web.mit.edu/jywang/www/cef/Bible/NIV/NIV_Bible/EZEK+10.html

Before the final destruction of Jerusalem, the righteous will all be lifted up together and the world will be totally consumed by fire, destroying all remaining wickedness. Now the righteous or those wishing to follow in the path of freedom, can return to earth with their Savior and make it a heaven together. The Earth will be translated (lifted into another dimension) and all the evil doers of earth will be left in this dimension as we continually move and advance through the endless potential of our eternal natures together as a human family and express our endless personalities within the infinite universe and the infinite medium of intelligent expression.

15 And the spirit and the body are the soul of man. 16 And the resurrection from the dead is the redemption of the soul. 17 And the redemption of the soul is through him that quickeneth all things, in whose bosom it is decreed that the poor and the meek of the earth shall inherit it. 18 Therefore, it must needs be sanctified from all unrighteousness, that it may be prepared for the celestial glory; 19 For after it hath filled the measure of its creation, it shall be crowned with glory, even with the presence of God the Father; 20 That bodies who are of the celestial kingdom may possess it forever and ever; for, for this intent was it made and created, and for this intent are they sanctified.

-D&C 88: 15-20

Quicken:

From Middle English quikenen ("to become alive again after dying; to raise (someone) from the dead; to regain consciousness or strength; to give vitality, revive; to regain validity; to nourish; to spare (the life of someone or something); to ignite; to illuminate; of events: to happen more quickly; of clouds; to form”) [and other forms], from quiken (“to come to life; to become alive again after dying; to give or regain vitality, revive; of a seed: to germinate, grow; to arouse (anger); to inspire; to reinforce, strengthen; to make (a substance) alchemically active; to nourish, sustain; to sharpen; to ignite; to illuminate; of news: to spread”)

- <https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/quicken#English>

The more dependent we allow ourselves to become as a civilization on energy wave technology, the less importance there becomes on society being orchestrated as the cosmos at large operates; wherein intelligence (humans, animals, plants, etc) are the principal of those things necessary to produce and sustain life, the harmony being good and conducive to the nature of each. Which was ultimately the point of coming here. To realize our nature and to do "living" and knowing in the intelligent medium of expression ourselves. We have externalized our ability to know and procure that which is necessary for life into the temporal and impermanent medium, and now are manipulated by it through our carnal dependency by malevolent NHI. We must reclaim our nature and learn how to know directly of ourselves through God to re-enthroned our becoming.

Myth is not where these truths come from, they are where they hide when we lose the knowledge and understanding of our own nature.

We must choose to learn how to 'do knowing' for ourselves, directly through God. Quantum Physics will ultimately prove that this is quite possible, even through the infinite reach of space.

Is the knowledge of the existence of God a matter of mere tradition, founded upon human testimony alone, until persons receive a manifestation of God to themselves? It is."

-Lecture Second, page 37 - Lectures on Faith, Joseph Smith

"How do men obtain a knowledge of the glory of God, his perfections and attributes? By devoting themselves to his service, through prayer and supplication incessantly strengthening their faith in him, until, like Enoch, the brother of Jared, and Moses, they obtain a manifestation of God to themselves. (Lecture 2:55.)"

-Lecture Second, page 37 - Lectures on Faith, Joseph Smith

"I testify that wickedness is rapidly expanding in every segment of our society. It is more highly organized, more cleverly disguised, and more powerfully promoted than ever before. Secret combinations lusting for power, gain, and glory are flourishing. A secret combination that seeks to overthrow the freedom of all lands, nations, and countries is increasing its evil influence and control over America and the entire world."

-Ezra Taft Benson

<https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/general-conference/1988/10/i-testify?lang=eng>

I would like to add my personal testimony, and that, like in the style of Plato, if it's not this exactly, I'm sure it's something exactly like this, and that I know for myself that these occurrences and the reality of our awful situation is true and upon us, and prophesied of by the prophets of God. I also know that God has prepared a way from even before the creation of the Earth that by faith in, and deliberate action taken on our part to follow his son Jesus Christ, our eternal nature may ultimately profit from this earthly experience. The Lord always prepares a way for his children to be able to follow him. Even in these last days, we need not fear if we have faith in and follow Christ, and trust in the eternal love of our heavenly parents. Study the Book of Mormon for yourself and take no one's final opinion on it but your own. For it truly testifies of Christ and of the realities pertinent to human civilization when it chooses to follow God, or not.

"17 Wherefore, he will preserve the righteous by his power, even if it so be that the fulness of his wrath must come, and the righteous be preserved, even unto the destruction of their enemies by fire. Wherefore, the righteous need not fear; for thus saith the prophet, they shall be saved, even if it so be as by fire.

22 And the righteous need not fear, for they are those who shall not be confounded. But it is the kingdom of the devil, which shall be built up among the children of men, which kingdom is established among them which are in the flesh—" - 1 Nephi 22:17, 22

Written and compiled by: M. G. J. Arts - June 2023

<https://mqjarts.com/>